Michigan Republicans Launch Attack on Voting Rights

Adrian L. Green and Susan Newell | The Morningsider

Detroit — Republicans in Michigan and 42 other states have decided that democracy no longer serves their interests. People of color, who make up a large segment of Democratic voters, are on track to become the majority over the next few decades, and this doesn't bode well for Republicans. Their response is as old as our nation: if they can't win elections by winning a majority of voters, they must rely on gerrymandering and voter suppression to pick and choose who gets to vote. Georgia has been the first, but may not be the last, state to enact a series of restrictions on voting rights intended to undermine the voting power of minority communities, but in the process, will make it harder for everyone to vote.

According to the online magazine Bridge Michigan, the Michigan Senate has introduced a sweeping bill that, among other things, "would tighten photo identification requirements for in-person voting, create new identification rules for absentee ballots and limit the use of absentee ballot drop boxes.

Litter Be Gone! Clean Neighborhood Club Begins in MorningSide

Clean Neighborhood Club | Morningside Community Organization

The cleanup location at the corner of Bedford and Cornwall. Image courtesy of Charon Nogues

Like our motto says, MorningSide is “a community on the rise,” but there are areas where piles of trash still litter our neighborhood and drag down morale. The Clean Neighborhood Club is ready to do something about it.

Our first volunteer clean-up will be held Saturday, April 24 at 10:00am. The location is 4800 Bedford, the corner of Bedford and Cornwall. We plan to wrap up by noon.

The project grew out of discussions with block captains, who felt that illegal dumping and litter were immediate problems we need to solve as a community. And we drew inspiration from 9-year-old, Kenzie Harris and her “clean up walks” from last fall, which we wrote about in the November 2020 newsletter (<https://static1.squarespace.com/static/5eb182a424322b0a97a7d4ec/t/5fa98e5bd40a8a1cf79b0ad3/1604947645777/2020-11-newsletter.pdf>).

The East Warren Tool Library has agreed to help, lending us any tools we need — shovels, rakes, wheelbarrows. Meanwhile, MorningSide Community Organization will provide trash bags and trash picker-uppers. Volunteers just need to bring gloves and good energy!

It's a great opportunity to meet neighbors and enjoy a cleaner community. Have a suggestion for a future clean-up? Please email us at morningsidecommunity2@gmail.com.

Critical Home Repairs for Morningside Residents

Stephanie Osterland | Habitat for Humanity Detroit

Habitat for Humanity Detroit has a long history in the Morningside community, primarily through our homeownership program. We are taking a more holistic approach to our presence in the neighborhood and received feedback from residents that there is a high demand for home repairs. We are excited to announce that we are now launching a Critical Home Repair Program exclusive to Morningside residents!

The Habitat Detroit Critical Home Repair program is designed to address the most pressing health and safety concerns at the property. Our goal is to ensure everyone has a safe place to call home. Eligible homeowners will receive grant funds to cover the cost of the needed repairs.

To access the application and find more information about the eligibility criteria please visit our Critical Home Repair webpage.

APPLY FOR HOME REPAIRS

We will begin accepting applications via our website starting April 12, 2021. Applications will be processed in the order they are received.

For those that are unable to access the internet or have difficulty completing an online form give us a call and we will take your application over the phone. We can be reached at (313) 521-6691.

Letter to the Editor

🥳 Congratulations! Another home run edition of "The Morningsider"! I really look forward to reading this professional, community newsworthy publication each month. Your response to the question about Black History Month was right on the point. Thanks for sharing this publication with the extended community.

Continued... Michigan Republicans Launch Attack on Voting Rights

“The proposal would also bar local governments from providing free return postage on absentee ballots, and it would prohibit election officials from using private grants to purchase new voting equipment or improve administration.”

Given the certainty that Gov. Gretchen Whitmer would veto any bill restricting voting rights in Michigan, Republicans are also launching a statewide petition drive that would put a voter suppression bill on the ballot. The results of that vote could not be vetoed by the Governor. Whether the Republicans can get the 340,000 signatures needed to put these measures on the ballot depends, in large part, on white voters' ability to see what's at the heart of this effort. Will they accept the “Big Lie” that Democrats stole the 2020 election through widespread voter fraud, or will they see that whatever restrictions they put on Black and Brown voters will hurt their right to vote as well? If it becomes harder, for example, for an African American senior to vote by absentee ballot, it becomes harder for a white senior as well.

What can we Detroiters do to protect our right to vote? We can assume that our own representatives at the state and federal level will oppose voting restrictions, but we still can't be complacent. Not since the days of Jim Crow has our democracy been under such serious threat. Here are some steps you can take to protect it:

Make sure everyone you know is aware of what's happening. For a variety of reasons, not everyone pays close attention to the news. Someone in your family or friendship circle may not realize that we're facing a 5-alarm fire; make sure to keep them informed.

Make sure everyone you know is registered to vote. Now is not the time for anyone to be cynical about the importance of voting. Get involved in voter registration campaigns. Look at what Stacey Abrams was able to accomplish in Georgia. Anyone who says “my vote doesn't matter” hasn't been paying attention.

Make sure everyone you know has a photo ID. Detroit has its own ID, which you can apply for through the city's website, www.detroitmi.gov. It's good for many things, but may not be accepted as valid for voting in Michigan. The process of getting a widely accepted photo ID is often very burdensome and lengthy. Don't let anyone you know put it off. Offer to help them if necessary.

Check out the work of Voters Not Politicians at www.votersnotpoliticians.com. This is the statewide group that started with a single Facebook post, then went on to wage a successful campaign to establish a citizens commission to redraw voting districts fairly and end gerrymandering in Michigan. In addition to fighting continuing Republican efforts to stop this commission from functioning properly, VNP is taking on the current threat to our voting rights. They can use your time, energy, and money.

We will do our best to keep you updated as the struggle unfolds, and we identify more resources to fight this attack on one of our most precious rights.

Free College Tuition in Michigan; Which Schools Offer What

With the cost of a college education too high for too many families, it's encouraging to know that there are programs available in our state to make universities affordable to the average household. These opportunities aren't always easy to find, but Bridge Michigan, a very informative online magazine, has just made it easier. MorningSide Board Elections Coming May 11th

Spring is always the time for nature’s new beginnings and the MorningSide Board of Directors election is aligned with this fresh new season. Maybe coincidence maybe not, but I like to think of our election as a time for fresh new beginnings as well. That being said, I’m appealing to, encouraging, and asking people to strongly consider stepping into a new role and running for a seat on the MorningSide Board of Directors.

It’s soon time to execute our civil right to vote and participate in the election of MorningSide community leadership! It may sound strong to say civil right but that’s exactly what voting is, a civil right. Some may take it lightly, believing community leadership is insignificant but the leaders we elect are critical to the progress or regress of our community. Community leaders have long been at the helm of significant and monumental change in this country, this state, and this city, and will continue to be. Having strong and experienced leadership for our community inspires growth, respect, and boosts confidence, support, and reward from the public, philanthropic, and private sectors alike. Good leadership is what drives the trust that reaps the reward! Please consider becoming a part of or remaining in that leadership.

This year we are electing for the following:

- President
- 2nd Vice President
- Secretary
- Six Directors at large

Our election process has two parts, the Election Committee will conduct nominations at the General Meeting on April 13, 2021, and will conduct the Election at the Annual Meeting on May 11, 2021. As designated by the Board of Directors these are virtual meetings taking place on the Zoom platform and the nomination and election processes will use digital forms. The details of these processes will be presented at the meetings and recordings made available on the MorningSide website.

East Warren/Cadieux Neighborhood Framework Plan Moves Forward

Eric Dryer | OHM Advisors

On March 15th, 2021, the E. Warren/Cadieux Project Team presented the final recommendations of the Neighborhood Framework Plan to over 180 community members who tuned into the live Zoom presentation. After more than 16 months of technical analysis, community conversations, and coordination with various City departments, the planning process has come to an end, setting the stage for implementation of the Plan’s vision.

The final recommendations for each of the Plan’s four Focus Areas, Commercial and Mixed-Use Development, E. Warren Renovation, Parks and Open Space, and Neighborhood Stabilization, were presented to the community. Summaries of the recommendations are below.

Commercial and Mixed-Use Development

Based on the real estate market analysis, and building from the desires of the community, a commercial and mixed-use development strategy for E. Warren was established that focuses efforts on the “Core Area” of corridor between Three Mile Drive and Cadieux Road. This section is home to a higher density of existing business and will overlap with upcoming E. Warren street redesign project, maximizing benefits to the district.

Easter Extravaganza on Nottingham

Charon Noques | Contributing Writer

Sunday, April 4 was a perfect day; we could not have asked for better Michigan weather in early April.

Twiana Odom and I took full advantage of the sunny 70 degrees to host an Easter extravaganza in the western end of MorningSide, with some financial help from Brilliant Detroit. Utilizing two lush green Easter-bedazzled Detroit Land Bank lots running along Cornwall at Nottingham, we hid hundreds of Easter eggs for kids in the neighborhood.

Our children have been cooped up inside for the past year during Covid-19 lockdown and winter, not knowing when they can safely play together or celebrate holidays as we used to. Residents on the west side of MorningSide do not yet enjoy a developed park, but there are a number of potential community projects being discussed by the MorningSide Community Organization Board of Directors and Motor City Grounds Crew. You'll be hearing more about them in future issues.

The history of Easter as we know it is quite fascinating, and the MorningSide community itself is going through a rebirth. Hundreds of beautiful castle-like houses, including 4706 Nottingham Rd., are being rehabbed at a rapid pace. A number of "victory gardens" are growing from the ashes of what were once the homes of many generations of Detroiters. Each spring we still see daffodils and tulips that outline the fence lines where homes used to be.

The day started out with elaborate egg decorating led by Twiana, who dyed the eggs, some with natural colors she invented herself. The kids loved the idea of being able to eat their spectacular creations after showing them proudly to their parents.

At around noon, the highly anticipated Easter egg hunt began. Because many children were attending church on Easter Sunday, we kept hiding more eggs for the darling kids that showed up at 1/2 hour intervals in masks and their Easter best. We had extra masks, lavender sanitizing wipes, and hand sanitizer on hand at all the craft and prize tables. Children created Easter-inspired paintings and played other organized exercise-oriented games.

They also enjoyed a few rounds of hot tater-tots with organic ketchup, organic apple juice, bottles of water, and tiny organic mandarin oranges, which we also hid inside the Easter eggs as a healthy surprise!

We may not have seen the Easter Bunny, but we did have six two-week-old chicks, which we allowed the children to hold. The teenagers seemed the most nervous about being extra gentle and holding them correctly. Everyone loved the experience and sat quietly cuddling the chicks for quite some time.

All afternoon and into the evening we had ongoing Nerf gun battles! Kids brought their very impressive Nerf guns, or used the ones that my son Daniel supplied. We had 1200 Nerf bullets to keep the kids of all ages supplied with ammo. The Nerf fun was great exercise and a lot of laughs. We were so happy to see teenagers chaperoning young siblings and having a really great time, eating heartily from dawn to dusk.

Continued... East Warren/Cadieux Neighborhood Framework Plan Moves Forward

Over the next 3-5 years, the development focus will be on identifying public-private partnerships to redevelop existing mixed-use buildings near each other first to build up the commercial district. As the district takes hold, efforts to add new construction to the corridor will be considered. The goal of the commercial development efforts is to locate projects near each other to ensure that existing and future businesses are able to benefit from the increased activity in the corridor.

Overlapping with E. Warren’s Core Area, the redesign of E. Warren Avenue will take place between Three Mile Drive and Cadieux Road, touching all three neighborhoods. Coordinating the development efforts along E. Warren with the street renovation will provide overlapping benefits to nearby residences, businesses, and travelers along the street. New sidewalks, safer walking and biking conditions, street trees and planting areas, upgraded transit stops, and optimized on-street parking through the corridor will all be a part of the new design. The new E. Warren will transform the street from a primary travel corridor to a place where people want to be!

This spring and summer, the Department of Public Works will be hosting additional public meetings to determine the specific design aspects of E. Warren. This will include how the street is laid out, where parking is located, the location of crosswalks, and how street plantings will be incorporated into the street. Construction of the new streetscape is slated to start in 2022.

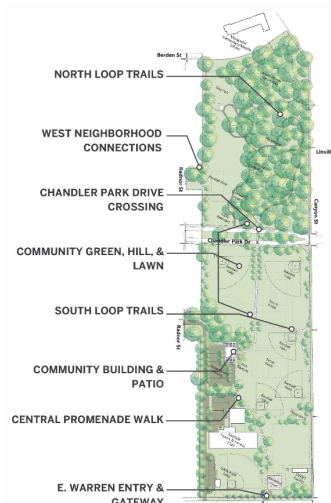

Potential streetscape plans for East Warren Avenue. Image courtesy of the City of Detroit

Parks and Open Space

The Neighborhood Framework Plan’s recommendations for parks and open space focus on improvements to Balduck Park in order to ensure its standing as a catalytic City park. Many of the recommendations for Balduck Park focus on improving the ways residents get into the park and travel through the park. This includes opening up connections to Cornerstone Village on the west side of the park, adding a central promenade trail on the south side of the park, incorporating loop trails throughout both sides of Balduck, and adding a gateway entry feature along E. Warren Avenue.

The remaining park improvement recommendations center on creating spaces for people to meet, interact, and use the park in the ways they want. These spaces also allow for new programming to come to Balduck Park, making the park a more desirable place for more community members. Recommendations include opening up the community building and adding a community patio, activating the hill and lawn, and creating a community green space. The detailed design and specific improvements for Balduck Park will be developed through the Spring and Summer of 2021 with the General Services Department.

Neighborhood Stabilization

Recommendations for stabilizing the neighborhoods center around rehabbing homes in targeted areas around the E. Warren/Cadieux area. The plan identifies a few zones, located in Eastern Cornerstone Village and Central Morningside, where stabilizations efforts will have the greatest impact on the overall neighborhood. A coordinated effort to demolish vacant houses that are beyond repair, market bundled properties to local developers to rehabilitate, and clean up and beautify vacant land in these zones will set the stage for an expanded Rehabbed and Ready program in the Study Area.

The targeted stabilization areas are located near community amenities like schools, churches, and parks, and are all near E. Warren Avenue. Locating these stabilization areas near community amenities has spillover effects as nearby neighborhood residents are likely to use these services. Residents in these areas are also able to access local shops, walk to school, visit parks, and attend church services quickly and easily, increasing the attractiveness of the neighborhood.

The E. Warren/Cadieux Neighborhood Framework Plan is just the start of a neighborhood transformation that will improve the lives of all residents in MorningSide, East English Village, and Cornerstone Village. By coordinating efforts across the four project focus areas and locating the recommended projects near each other, the maximum benefit will be had by the community. Over the next five years, various projects will be completed in the neighborhoods based on this plan and will have opportunities for you to provide input. Help decide the future of your neighborhood by staying involved as progress is made by following EWC Plan on Facebook or signing up for the newsletter at www.ewcplan.com.

MorningSide's Finest

Sabah "Jack" Bartus

MCO's own Charon Nogues interviewed the owner of Detroit Motown Beverage, Sabah "Jack" Bartus. Congrats Jack on being Morningside Finest!

C & T: Jack, you're well known for your generosity. For years you've donated to many MorningSide community events like the Christmas party and several Motor City Makeovers. We certainly appreciate you. You've never said no when we seek your support.
Jack: (Smiled big and blushed).

C & T: Why do customers call your store Jack's?
Jack: When I came to the state of Michigan 40 years ago, my name was hard to pronounce, so people opted to call me Jack, and it stuck with me.

C & T: When did you open your store on East Warren?
Jack: The store was already open, but I took over in 2010.

C & T: We've noticed that you hire from within the MorningSide community; do you have a big turnover with employees?
Jack: No, I have several great employees like Sheree here, that have worked for me for over five years.

C & T: Sheree, what do you like about working here?
Sheree Gibson: Jack treats me like family, the customers are very friendly, we all know each other.

C & T spoke to a customer: What do you like about Jack's shop?
Happy Customer: One of the things I appreciate is the way that Jack protects people in the community. He really cares about us and our extended family, he helps everyone out.

C & T: Jack, tell us about your family.
Jack: My wife and three children have worked many, many 10 hour days in the shop alone. It was very important to me that they experience different cultures; we feel a kinship to the Black community. Now my daughter and two sons are out of college and have careers of their own. We love the MorningSide community.

C & T: Your wife makes those delicious fresh, inexpensive sub sandwiches. What kinds of subs do you offer?
Jack: Ham, corned beef, turkey, and Italian.

C & T: We noticed that you have some really good items for WIC customers, like fresh fruits and veggies, things that are nearly impossible to find on this stretch of East Warren.

C & T: Has anyone ever won the lottery here?
Jack: Jack's is the lucky spot! Hundreds have won up to 5K!

C & T: What do you like best about running the shop?
Jack: The friendships I have with my long time customers, so many stop by to say hello after they have moved pretty far away, like I am a family member. It's who I am to them, not just what I sell to them, that is everything to me.

On our way out the door, Jack presented us with two freshly made sub sandwiches to take home. What a guy!

RIP to A Hip Hop Legend - DMX

Jeffrey D. Lewis II | The Morningsider

It's not very often a transcendent figure comes around and changes the landscape of their respective field.

Some names that I instantly think of are Tupac Shakur, Michael Jordan, Kobe Bryant, Michael Jackson, and Whitney Houston.

The man born Earl Simmons, known professionally as DMX was definitely one of those individuals you can throw into that category.

Sadly, we lost DMX, as he made his transition on Friday, April 9th at the age of 50.

DMX rose to fame during the late 1990s as the gritty, raspy-voiced rapper hailing from the streets of Yonkers, New York. During that time in Hip Hop we had never heard someone with the combination of the voice and the storytelling ability DMX had.

DMX pretty much ruled the airways with number one hits such as the Ruff Ryders' Anthem from his debut 1998 album, "It's Dark and Hell Is Hot," and the uptempo party jam, Party Up (Up In Here), from his 1999 release, ...And Then There Was X.

Till this day, DMX is the only musician (notice I said only) whose first five albums reached number 1 on the Billboard charts.

Fans from all backgrounds easily resonated with DMX as the passion for his craft was unlike any other artist we had seen before.

During his performances, he would often break down giving praise to the Almighty, which was rare to see in the music industry. This is why millions of fans around the world gravitated to DMX.

DMX's life story is well documented as he was often beaten by his mother as a child, experienced extensive homelessness and battled with drug addiction, which ultimately claimed his life.

Somehow, throughout the trials and tribulations DMX went through during his life, he was able to establish a legendary career that many artists could only dream of.

When the news of his passing was announced I definitely felt sadness, as many others did. I went back to revisit some of his timeless hits such as Who We Be, and my personal all time favorite, Slippin' (Link to video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=9Ww-TQYeA3E>). It was through this one song that he expressed the dark reality of his entire life.

DMX was a one of a kind artist. He left us with a gift that will forever be cherished. He will truly be missed.

Thank you X!

DMX. Image courtesy of Jonathan Mannion

Let's Talk Trash!

You know spring is officially here when yard waste pickup begins again. In other parts of the city, yard waste pickup may begin as early as April 19; but in MorningSide, it won't start until Thursday, April 29, and every two weeks after that until December. Here are the next three dates for bulk trash:

- April 15th – Bulk trash and recycling only, NO YARD WASTE
- Thursday, April 29th – Bulk trash, recycling AND yard waste
- Thursday, May 13th – Bulk trash, recycling, and yard waste
